

Jamie Treselyan Acting CV

British-Australian actor with an Advanced Diploma of screen and stage acting graduating from The Australian Performing Arts Conservatory in 2011.

Jamie brings a real-life approach to his work which brings a natural presence to any role he portrays from Film – Theatre.

Jamie’s most recent credit is playing an Episodic lead role of Frederick on the US TV series ‘Deadly Women’. Jamie also landed a small role in the upcoming US feature “Octopus Pot” by Mikel Shannon Jenkins. Jamie also plays the comedy support role in ‘Eddyct’ on Amazon Prime UK and US.

Playing lead roles in the award-winning short films ‘Connected’ “The Nearing of Jordyn Simmons” and “They Called Me Keith”.

Sold out theatre shows with a lead role in ‘Good Grief’ showcases Jamie’s diversity and ability to transfer his storytelling on any medium. Winning awards for ‘Avocado Toast’ Sydney Short and sweet festival 2019 and 2020 for “The Philosopher’s Hospital”.

Jamie is an established Audiobook narrator with many titles on Audible where he utilises his extensive accent and character creation skills.

A Dual Citizen of United Kingdom and Australia.

Accents – Australian, American, English, Irish

Has extensive training in Martial Arts, Gymnastics, Tricking, Close combat weapons and firearms.
